Shipping Policy

We ship the product within 2 working days after receiving the order. Transit times are determined by the courier service providers and postal codes. The average transit time would be seven working days from the date of dispatch. The transit time for small towns and villages may take 10 working days. However, shipping time may vary during acts of nature, festivals, or unforeseen circumstances that may impede the logistical planning. We ship the orders through the ground (Surface) courier unless otherwise decided. An estimate of the shipping charges is available while you check out
